AMERICAN CONSULS AGAIN NOTIFY AMERICANS TO GET OUT OF MEXICO

STATE DEPARTMENT TELLS ITS AGENTS IN MEXICO TO URGE AMERICANS TO LEAVE, AS THEIR PRESENCE IS UNDESIRABLE.

National Guard of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona was today mustered into the Regular Service to the Out Remainder of their Enlistment—Further Indication of the American Operations on the Border are Still Underway—Scott to Hold Another Conference with Obregon—Denial of the Rumor that Scott Served Ultimatum—Obregon Demanding Final Answer from the Mexican—American Troops Have Crossed into Mexico in the Big Bend Region, Although it is Believed that they Have Done So.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Further indications that the American operations on the Mexican border are still indeterminate, came in the war department announcement today that the national guard of Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico will be mustered into the regular army for the period of their enlistments, with no specific time stipulated for federal service.

Scott telegraphed today that he will hold another conference with Obregon this afternoon. Secretary Baker stated that there was nothing to confirm the report that Scott has served an ultimatum on Obregon for a final answer.

No official advices have been received that the American troops have crossed the border in the Big Bend region, although it is believed that some of them have done so.

The American consuls have been instructed to again warn Americans to leave Mexico because the state department believes their presence there is undesirable.

Conferees Now in Session.

El Paso, Texas, May 11.—The negotiations for the settlement of the American-Mexican military questions were resumed today between Scott and Funston for the United States and Obregon and Juan Amador for Mexico. The conference, which may be the last, is being held in Scott's private car. Nothing had been disclosed at 2:00 o'clock.

Militia at Mobilization Point.

San Antonio, Tex., May 11.—More than one thousand Texas militia arrived here before noon today and went into camp at Fort Sam Houston. The movement will continue through today, and tonight before the mobilization is complete.

Mount Infantry on Border.

El Paso, Texas, May 11.—General Funston desires to strengthen the border patrol by mounting two thousand infantrymen on Texas points, it was announced today. He plans to make such a recommendation to Baker because the cavalry patrol horses have been practically exhausted.

KILLED IN SHAFT CAVE-IN

Aurora, Mo., May 11.—Man Is Buried Under Four Feet of Earth.

Aurora, Mo., May 10.—Joe Ashens and O. A. Kuderman were caught this morning in a cave-in while removing cribbing from a shallow shaft. Ashens clung to the rope and climbed out. Kuderman was buried under four feet of earth.

A rescue party was formed at once and at first could hear Kuderman's calls. Another cave-in delayed the rescuers and caused Kuderman's death. The body was taken out three hours after the accident. Kuderman is survived by his wife and two children.

WEATHER FORECAST
New Orleans, La., May 11.—The weather forecast for Oklahoma for tonight and Friday is fair.

BOY BOOSTERS FEATURE AT THE TABERNACLE

DOCTOR WILLIAMS BY REQUEST CHANGED HIS SUBJECT LAST NIGHT — PREACHED ON "ZACHEUS" THE TAX COLLECTOR.

"Zacheus the Tax Collector" subject of Dr. Williams' sermon at the tabernacle last night. By a large vote, pro and con, the audience requested Dr. Williams to postpone his sermon on "Amusements, Harmful and Helpful," until tonight at 7:15. This is in order to give many a chance to hear the address who were unable to be present last night. "The Boy Boosters" was a new feature at the meeting last night. Round after round of cheers greeted them and they sang lustily. A more eager class of boys and girls for religion of the right stamp that calls for service, would be hard to find. A great field has been discovered to many of the saints who are "set" in the traditions of the elders. Christ appeals to children, and His is the only religion that does. It appears that Ardmore is to be revolutionized in religion through its children. They that would be rich and those who are engulfed in the lusts of the flesh, the lusts of the eyes and the vain glory of life, seem hopelessly joined to their ways.

Dr. Williams' question box has proven a source of rich pleasure and profit. Among many questions, practical, theological, and knotty, this one came to light last night: "Is it proper for a Christian to allow his chickens to scratch up his neighbors' gardens?" "Certainly not," said the evangelist, "chickens are to be killed and eaten; not to scratch up gardens." "Amen," shouted a hank, hungry-looking Methodist preacher.

The ten o'clock morning prayer meetings have developed great strength in various districts of the city. These have developed a host of efficient workers, women who before were too timid to make an effort at personal work.

Dr. Williams' address on Zacheus was a character study in the light of the gospel and the home. Zacheus was looked upon as a hard case for gospel work. He was a renegade Jew, ostracized by his people, holding the position of tax collector under an oppressive Roman government. He was reckoned among the most despised class. "All publicans, all robbers," had become a proverb. Being a Jew, he looked for the Messiah, but one entirely different from the Jesus who came, who was meek and humble, preaching a gospel of love and mercy and justice and purity, denouncing the religious pretensions of the day. The people were divided on him, and the majority finally accomplished his death. They did not want this man to reign over them.

Zacheus was the chief publican, and he was rich, of course. Oppression was the custom of the day in collecting the public revenues. He had taken advantage of his opportunity and feathered his own nest. He had made his money largely by dishonest means, though it may be technically legal and safe from the law's power. The wonderful Jesus was passing through Jericho, and Zacheus was very curious to see him. The city was echoing with the shouts of those whom he had blessed in many ways. Zacheus was a short, small man and could not see above the crowd. So he ran ahead and climbed a tree to get a good view of Jesus. When Jesus came under the tree where Zacheus was, He looked up and addressed the curious little Jew, saying unto him to come down as he wanted to go home with him. A heart-to-heart visit in that home with father, mother and children from Jesus wrought wonders then as it will do today. We do not have to clean out some things before he will come in. Let him come in and some things will make haste to get of themselves. Jesus in the home is like the ark of the Lord in the house of Obed Edom. The words

BOOSTERS OF OKLAHOMA CITY ENTERTAINED

WARM WELCOME IS EXTENDED THEM AND MANY EXPRESSIONS OF GOOD FEELING WERE HEARD.

The Oklahoma booster special train bearing the Oklahoma City delegation 150 strong, invaded the city last night and were accorded a most cordial reception by the Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's association.

Last night a reception and smoker was tendered the visitors at the Elks' Club, at which many expressions of good feeling and good fellowship were heard from the visitors and from the local business men alike.

President Mullen of the Chamber of Commerce was master of ceremonies, and introduced the successive speakers in his usual forceful manner. The Oklahoma boosters were accompanied by the first regiment band of Oklahoma City, which rendered a short program before the beginning of the evening's entertainment.

President Mullen, in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's association, and the citizens of the city, welcomed the visitors and introduced as the first speaker Ed S. Vaught, president of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Vaught delivered a very pleasing address in which he lauded the Oklahoma spirit and made an earnest plea for unity in state affairs. He closed his remarks by saying that it was the duty of Oklahomans to purchase goods in Oklahoma, prices and delivery facilities being equal. Mr. Vaught's remarks were interrupted by frequent applause.

Colonel Graves Leeper was next called and kept the crowd in good spirits by one of his characteristic speeches, replete with anecdotes of the tie when Ardmore and Oklahoma were young, and then introduced L. M. Putnam, formerly of Oklahoma City, but now of Ardmore, who admonished the visitors to look to their laurels if they hoped to retain the distinction of being the largest city in the state.

Colonel Fred Fleming was called upon for a few remarks, and recited his experience in the insurance and banking business in this state, and said that the remarkable growth of the bank deposits and the still more marvelous increase in the scholastic population of the state portended great things for the future of Oklahoma.

The hit of the evening was the address of Dr. Roach, pastor of the First Methodist church of Oklahoma City, and, as he termed it, spiritual adviser to "the bunch." Dr. Roach is one of the most eloquent men in the state, and has the great gift of being able to inject real humor into his lectures. He told of the wonders that had been revealed to him since coming to Oklahoma and praised the spirit that had so far eliminated all party lines that it was possible to build such a magnificent commonwealth in so short a time. Dr. Roach was applauded to the echo at the conclusion of his remarks.

H. H. Brown of this city and Walter Lybrand, an attorney of Oklahoma City, were the next speakers. Brown for Ardmore bidding the visitors welcome and assuring them that the interests of Oklahoma City were also the interests of Ardmore. Mr. Lybrand, responding in kind, assured the Ardmore citizens that Oklahoma City was extremely proud of the spirit that prevailed between the two cities, and finished by begging the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce to "please not take any more of their live wires."

Superintendent Richards of the Ardmore schools was called and told the visitors of the splendid school system which was not only the pride of every citizen of the city, but of the state as well. Mr. Richards admonished the business men not to lose sight of the welfare of the boys and girls of the state, as its greatness in the future would depend

GERMAN GAINS EAST OF MEUSE

GERMANS MAKE SUCCESSFUL ATTACK ON EAST SIDE OF MEUSE, NORTHEAST OF VAUX.

FINALLY REPULSED

Paris Says Germans Were Finally Repulsed—Heavy Artillery Firing Believed to Presage Speedy Resumption of Infantry Drives.

London, May 11.—Holding in check their forces on the west bank of the Meuse, where they recently scored important successes, the Germans made a successful attack on the east side of the Meuse near Vaux.

Paris says, the Germans were finally repulsed.

The heavy artillery firing in Avoncourt Wood is believed to presage a speedy resumption of the infantry drives northwest of Verdun. The French are vigorously counter attacking near Deadman's Hill.

On the eastern front, the Germans captured five hundred yards of Russian trenches near Selburg.

Austrian Offensive Begins.

Athens, May 11.—Sharp fighting is taking place north of Avlona, indicating apparently that the Austrians have commenced their long threatened offensive against the Italians and Serbians in Albania.

Russians Driven Out.

Constantinople, May 11.—An official statement says that in an all-night battle on Mount Kope sector, Caucasus, the Turks drove the Russians out of positions nearly ten miles in length.

TWO MISSING THREE HURT IN PUTOMAC

PROPELLER OF LARGE HYDRO-AEROPLANE BREAKS—MACHINE FALLS WITH OCCUPANTS INTO RIVER TODAY.

Washington, May 11.—Louis Krant, mechanic, and Charles Good, a student aviator, are missing, while three other occupants were seriously injured when a large hydro-aeroplane flying from Washington to Newport News broke a propeller and fell into the Potomac, near Mount Vernon, today.

FOURTEEN ARE EXECUTED, 73 SENTENCED

FOURTEEN EXECUTED FOR PARTICIPATION IN IRISH REBELLION, SAYS UNDER SECRETARY FOR WAR.

London, May 11.—Fourteen persons have been executed, Ireland's parliamentary under secretary for war Tennant told the house of commons today.

Seventy-three others were sentenced to penal servitude and six imprisoned at hard labor.

The latest estimates of the Dublin casualties places the number at one thousand, of which four hundred were killed, including soldiers, insurgents and civilians.

EIGHTH CAVALRY CROSSES BORDER

MAJOR G. T. LANGHORNE AND HIS TROOPERS CROSSED INTO MEXICO LAST NIGHT.

FOLLOWING BANDITS

Langhorne's Men Are Riding Rapidly Southward, Taking With Them Three Bandits Captured by Mine Employees.

Marathon, Tex., May 11.—Major G. T. Langhorne with his troops of the eighth's cavalry crossed into Mexico last night and today are rapidly riding southward, taking with them the three Mexican bandits captured by the nine American employees. The bandits will be used to guide the troops to the camp of the brigands.

The bandits are believed to be twelve hours inland. It is reported that J. Deemers is held a prisoner at this camp.

AN AWFUL WARNING—MAN DIES CRANKING AUTO

Durant, Okla., May 10.—John M. Webb, a local citizen, died Wednesday while cranking an automobile.

Mr. Webb had spent the day at Wood Lake, near Sherman, Texas, having taken a load of Presbyterian college girls to Wood Lake to a picnic. He was about a mile south of Durant when his automobile stopped and in cranking it he died of heart failure. Mr. Webb had lived in Bryan county for sixty-two years. He was born in Alabama in 1851. The widow and four sons survive. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday by the Masonic lodge of Durant, of which he was a member.

FORTY-ONE OF ROANOKE CREW ARE MISSING

STEAMER TURNED TURTLE AND SANK TUESDAY ONE HUNDRED MILES SOUTH OF FRISCO, DURING GALE.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., May 11.—Forty-one of the crew of the steamship Roanoke, which turned turtle and sank Tuesday during a gale one hundred miles south of San Francisco, are still missing today.

The steamer Lansing is searching for the four lifeboats in which the crew took refuge. The Roanoke carried no passengers.

WILL ORGANIZE CAMP OF SONS U. C. V., THIS P. M.

This afternoon at 5:30 at the county court house there will be organized a camp of Sons of United Confederate Veterans, and from present indications there will be a good membership enrolled.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will also meet with the sons on this occasion. Ardmore at one time boasted of the third largest camp of Sons, in the southwest, but of late years the camp has been allowed to lag, with little interest being taken in it.

G. W. Bruce of Muskogee, who has been commissioned to reorganize the sons in Oklahoma, stated this morning that he was meeting with much encouragement and hoped to have a nice camp organized here in a short time. Mr. Bruce is assistant general of Oklahoma and is an enthusiastic worker in the cause. Everyone interested in this movement should be at the court house this afternoon at 5:30.
